UEA North American IB Scholarships

African Educational Trust

DFID Shared Scholarship Scheme \(DFIDSSS\)

Jointly funded by the Department for International Development and certain UK universities, including UEA, the scheme helps students of high academic calibre in developing Commonwealth countries. Candidates must be from a developing Commonwealth country intending to study a subject of developmental relevance, otherwise unable to pay for their studies and outside the scope of existing support schemes. For more information see the Association of Commonwealth Universities web site. UEA has one award per year under this scheme.

UEA International Scholarships

All international students (outside the EU) are able to be considered for a scholarship of between 10 and 50 per cent of tuition fees. Students should indicate on the application for admission that they wish to be considered for a UEA scholarship.

It is important to make an application as early as possible because they are considered as they are received. Scholarships are awarded to students on the basis of academic merit and are normally for the duration of the period of study - three years for Bachelor and PhD degrees and one year for Masters programmes. They are available from all Schools of Study and across most courses of study.

UEA School of Philosophy International Student Bursaries

There is a small amount of money set aside each year for Bursaries to reduce the International Student fees for one or two students applying to study philosophy. These are modest reductions (usually less than £1000 per year): the number and size of the bursaries depends on the number of deserving cases. These bursaries are not exclusively for Research degrees, but may be offered to MA or BA students, on the basis of academic merit and financial hardship.
